LARGEST PUMPKINS IN THE UNITED STATES ON DISPLAY
AT THE NEW YORK BOTANICAL GARDEN
October 20–31, 2012

Giant Pumpkin Weighing 1,872 Pounds, Beating Last Year's World Record Holder, Is Among Amazing Winners of Weigh-Off Competitions From Around the World

Three winning pumpkins from regional weigh-offs across the United States, part of growing competitions around the world, including one that broke the world record for heaviest pumpkin set last year, will be on display from October 20 through October 31, 2012, at The New York Botanical Garden. The enormous pumpkins each weigh over 1,750 pounds. The largest pumpkin, weighing an astounding 1,872 pounds, was grown by Ron Wallace from Greene, Rhode Island.

The two runners-up are equally impressive. They include: one pumpkin grown by Steve Geddes from Boscawen, New Hampshire, weighing 1,843.5 pounds (larger than last year's winner by 25 pounds); and another grown by Steve Daletas from Pleasant Hill, Oregon, weighing 1,778.5 pounds.

Poised to amaze everyone arriving for The Haunted Pumpkin Garden, sponsored by Fisher-Price, and other autumn attractions at The New York Botanical Garden, this showcase of champions will be on view through October 31. In collaboration with the Great Pumpkin Commonwealth (GPC), the recognized standard of weights, measurements, and fairness of competition, the three behemoths will be housed at the Garden's Clay Family Picnic Pavilions, where visitors can marvel at and take pictures with these wonders of both nature and growing technique.

On October 20 and 21, Master Carver Ray Villafane of Food Network fame, along with a team that includes Andy Bergholtz of the hit television show "Halloween Wars," Alfred Paredes, and other carvers, will transform humongous pumpkins into zombies and other unearthly creatures.

The Haunted Pumpkin Garden in the Everett Children's Adventure Garden is open all day for exploration, with guided activities from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on weekends. During these guided activities, children can join afternoon parades starting in the Adventure Garden Discovery Plaza; visit Habitat Hub for Fisher-Price fun; decorate their own science bag to collect the season's fallen fruits and leaves; sort seeds, dissect an owl pellet, and explore the Children's Adventure Garden; pot-up buckwheat seeds to bring home and grow; and put on their own performance in the Pumpkin Puppet Theater. Each weekend they can watch pumpkin carvers in action in the Carving Studio adjacent to the Discovery Center. Expert carvers will demonstrate tips and tricks that everyone can try at home.

On Saturday, October 20, 1–5 p.m., children can get in on the carving action as part of MasterCard's® Priceless Budding Masters program at the Botanical Garden. Participants 8–15 years old will have a chance to be part of a team creating a giant pumpkin masterpiece. Inspired by Villafane's work, this one-of-a-kind creation will become part of The Haunted Pumpkin Garden. Children will learn first-hand how Villafane makes his creations come to life, and each participant will carve and take home their own pumpkin creation. Tickets are $75, limited, and available at <https://www.priceless.com/newyork/offer/?productNumber=94>.

Garden partner Pumpkin WoW will carve and shave a giant pumpkin with a zombie theme, consistent with the pumpkin sculpture that Villafane Studios is masterfully creating for this same event. This pumpkin will be on display throughout The Haunted Pumpkin Garden event. The zombie design will be applied to the pumpkin using Pumpkin WoW's patent pending process of applying a carving pattern to a pumpkin using a temporary tattoo.
