Bronx, NY— The New York Botanical Garden (NYBG) announces the Holiday Train Show[®] will make its grand return on Saturday, November 18, 2023, and be on view through Monday, January 15, 2024. For its 32nd year, the beloved holiday tradition, which features model trains zipping through a miniature wonderland of nearly 200 New York landmark replicas, each delightfully re-created from natural materials such as leaves, seeds, twigs, bark, acorns, and cinnamon sticks, will be bigger than ever, with more trains and the addition of an all-new and enchanting outdoor train display, complementing the indoor show in the historic Enid A. Haupt Conservatory.

On 20 select nights, visitors of all ages can enjoy both the Holiday Train Show and NYBG GLOW, the Botanical Garden's outdoor holiday light experience, back for its fourth year. During these special evenings, the Garden's iconic sights and buildings, including the Haupt Conservatory and the LuEsther T. Mertz Library Building, become dramatic, glittering canvases. Thousands of dazzling, energy-efficient choreographed lights and sound and picture-perfect installations create a spectacle not to be missed. Beverages and light fare will be available at one of NYBG's outdoor bars or the Bronx Night Market Holiday Pop-Up.

NYBG GLOW will take place from 5 to 10 p.m. on the following dates: Friday, November 17; Saturday, November 18; Friday, November 24; Saturday, November 25; Friday, December 1; Saturday, December 2; Friday, December 8; Saturday, December 9; Friday, December 15; Saturday, December 16; Sunday, December 17; Friday, December 22; Saturday, December 23; Tuesday, December 26; Wednesday, December 27; Thursday, December 28; Friday, December 29; Saturday, December 30, 2023; Saturday, January 6; and Saturday, January 13, 2024.

Fan-favorite Bar Car Nights, for adults age 21 and over, will also make a comeback this season on three select dates, Thursdays, December 7 and December 14, 2023, and Friday, January 5, 2024. Bar Car Nights feature adults-only nighttime viewing of the Holiday Train Show and NYBG GLOW, with light bites and curated cocktails available for purchase and enjoyment as visitors journey through the exhibition with friends and loved ones.

Tickets for the Holiday Train Show, NYBG GLOW, and Bar Car Nights go on sale to NYBG Members beginning Tuesday, September 12, 2023, and to the general public beginning Thursday, September 14, 2023.

Set within NYBG's iconic glasshouse, the Holiday Train Show is renowned for its vignettes of G-scale model trains enlivening botanical replicas of such famous New York landmarks as the Statue of Liberty, Grand Central Terminal, Rockefeller Center, Radio City Musical Hall, the Apollo Theater, and many other favorites, all crafted by the creative team at Applied Imagination in Alexandria, Kentucky. American steam engines, streetcars from the late 1800s, and modern freight and passenger trains travel along overhead trestles, through tunnels, and across soaring structures such as the Brooklyn Bridge and the George Washington Bridge, providing merriment for all ages.

The addition of the all-new display of model trains traversing towering mountainscapes sited on the Haupt Conservatory Lawn expands the exhibition, creating an indoor and outdoor experience, and hearkens back to the outdoor roots of the Holiday Train Show, which began in 1992. It is sure to be an ideal location for holiday photos.

The exhibition will include interpretive signage that explores some of the plants used to create the Holiday Train Show replicas. The signage will link to exclusive content in the Bloomberg Connects app that tells these plant stories, using preserved plant specimens from NYBG's William and Lynda Steere Herbarium, the largest plant research collection in the Western Hemisphere, with nearly eight million specimens. The Holiday Train Show signs draw a connection between the botanical roots of The New York Botanical Garden's cherished annual exhibition and its Plant Research and Conservation program.

During the day or at night, the Holiday Train Show at NYBG is sure to be unforgettable for those who look forward to seeing it every year and for those experiencing it for the first time. For more information, visit our website at nybg.org.
